Your Task: Write down three interesting facts about each leader in the boxes below.
Spain conquered most of the lands in the Americas (while Portugal conquered Brazil).

It divided its empire into provinces.

The two most important provinces were New Spain and Peru.

Spain set up a class system; Native Americans were the lowest.
The Native Americans were the least powerful class.

They were forced to work on plantations (haciendas) for European settlers.

They also worked in mines after silver was discovered (extremely dangerous).
  • Many died from overwork, malnutrition, or diseases.

The population decreased from 25 million in 1519 to less than 2 million in the late 1500s.
Emergence of Slavery

- European diseases decimated Native American population.
- European settlers still needed workers for plantations.
  - Colonists began importing African slaves to supplement Native American labor.
- Aspects of Native American & African culture (languages, customs, beliefs, traditions) survived & blended together.
Blending of Ethnic Groups

- Mestizos: people of mixed Native American and European ancestry
- Criollo: had Spanish-born parents, but was born in Latin America
- Mulattoes: people of mixed African and European ancestry
Ships leaving Europe first stopped in Africa; they traded European goods for captives taken in tribal wars or raids.

Ships then traveled to America; slaves were exchanged for sugar & other island products.

Ships returned home loaded with products from the Americas that grew very popular with Europeans.
Europeans take sugar, cotton, rum, tobacco and coffee back to Europe

Europeans take slaves to the Americas

Europeans take pots, pans, guns, alcohol and horses to Africa
Slavery in Americas

• An estimated 8-15 million Africans reached the Americas from the 16th to the 19th century.

• The African slave population quickly began to outnumber the Europeans & the Native Americans.

• Slave rebellions were common.
Toussaint
L'Ouverture
He was a former slave in Haiti (freed in 1777).
In 1791, he led a huge slave revolt against the French in Hispaniola.
France was also fighting a war against Spanish forces in Hispaniola; they couldn’t deal with slave rebellions.
They promised that any slave who joined the French army & fought the Spanish would be freed.
In 1795, L’Ouverture’s army helped the French defeat the Spanish.
Toussaint L’Ouverture

• In 1801, L’Ouverture led a huge army into a Spanish colony & freed all slaves there.
  o Six months later, he became “governor general of Haiti for life.”

• In 1802, a large French army lands in Haiti.
• They wanted to restore old French government & regain control of sugar trade.

• L’Ouverture’s army fought the French & lost.
• French arrested L’Ouverture and sent him to prison in France.
  • L’Ouverture died while in prison.
L’Ouverture’s army was outraged; it took up arms again against France.
- In November 1803, they defeated the last of the French forces.
- In 1804, they declared Haiti independent of French rule.
- Haiti became the 1st country in Latin America to break free of European imperialism.
Simon Bolivar
Simon Bolivar

- Bolivar was a wealthy Venezuelan Criollo who spent many years traveling Europe.
- While in Italy, he discovered his life’s purpose: to liberate his homeland from European control.
- In 1810, Bolivar’s army kicks Spanish governor out of Venezuela.
- In 1811, a new constitution proclaimed Venezuela independent of Spanish rule.
- Soon after, Spanish royalists defeated the new country’s army & Bolivar was forced to flee to New Granada (Colombia).
• Bolivar organized a bigger army and marched back into Venezuela.

• In 1813, Bolivar’s army won & took control of Venezuela’s capital, Caracas.
  • Bolivar was nicknamed El Libertador.
Bolivar organized a bigger army and marched back into Venezuela.

In 1813, Bolivar’s army won & took control of Venezuela’s capital, Caracas.

Bolivar was nicknamed El Libertador.

Over the next few years, Bolivar liberated New Granada (now Colombia), Ecuador, Panama, Peru, & Upper Peru (now Bolivia).
Hidalgo was a Catholic priest in the town of Dolores.
He began the struggle for Mexico’s independence in 1810.

- September 16th, 1810: “Cry of Dolores” was his call for revolution.
- He rang church bells and shouted, “Long live our Lady of Guadalupe! Death to bad government! Death to the Spaniards!”.
- An army of mestizos & Native Americans rallied behind Hidalgo.
Mexico Continues to Fight

• Over 80,000 people joined the fight, but the army was soon defeated by the Spanish.
• Hidalgo was captured and executed in 1811.
• Mexicans continued to fight for independence over the next decade.
In 1821, Mexico gained independence from Spain.

Mexico celebrates September 16th as it’s Independence Day.

The president rings a bell in Mexico city and repeats Hidalgo’s “Cry of Dolores.”
All of these men had a tremendous impact on the independence of Latin American countries from European rule.

• In your opinion, which leader had the greatest impact on Latin America’s independence? Why?
  • Use complete sentences to write your opinion statement and include at least 3 reasons that support it.
You are a spy that was sent by the Spanish government to Latin America. Your mission is to look for suspicious people who may try to revolt against European countries. Write a letter to the Spanish government telling them about the three revolutionary leaders that you have found in Latin America. These men are a huge threat to Spain and other European empires, so make sure you include a lot of information about these leaders.

Hints: Who are they? Where are they located? What are they trying to do? Why are they against European control?

Dear Spanish Official, …
